This delectable gathering of desserts comes from friends, pastry chefs, culinary instructors, and dessert aficionados whose love of sweets was discovered when they contributed to other Mutual cookbooks. The recipes whenever possible utilize natural flavors and locally-grown ingredients, especially those found in our backyard gardens. The result is simply satisfying.

From the Inside Flap Hawaii has always been sweet on desserts, especially the baked varieties that fill our kitchens with sweet, rich, enticing aromas as they are made. We are always stopping at local bakeries and bakers' counters to pick up our favorite cakes, cookies, muffins, and scones. Neighbors, relatives, and friends are always sharing their mango and banana bread. And of course we treasure our ethnic delights like malasadas, mochi, haupia treats, and sweet dim sum. Hawaii Bakes increases the choices available to local dessert lovers with recipes ranging from baked confections to frozen desserts and even some candy. These are recipes not typically found in local dessert books and while they may require a little extra work and preparation, the hostess or home cook who wants to serve something different will be rewarded. Some familiar delights but with new twists are: Forbidden Fudge Muffins, Mochiko Shortbread, Mango Upside Down Cake, and Sweet Pineapple Crumble. For those with real sweet teeth who crave for something different, when appetites yearn for something comforting yet sweet and unique, try Red Velvet Cupcakes with Butter Frosting, Chocolate Berry Shortcake with Fresh Whipped Cream, or Kaaawa Breach Pudding with Vanilla Cream Sauce.
